Working in Partnership

Swansea University is committed to working in partnership with students towards the continued enhancement of your student experience.

Underpinned by the principles laid out in the Student Charter, the University always seeks to work collaboratively with students and the Students' Union. This enables you to actively participate in all aspects of your learning experience.

As an equal partner in learning, it is important to the University that you have the opportunity to participate in how the University is run, in order to help its future development and ensure an excellent student learning and study experience. It is also committed to providing you with opportunities to enhance your employability and engage in extracurricular activities, to support your personal development.

There are various ways in which you can engage in University processes and new opportunities, initiatives and student-led projects are constantly being developed.

Within your Faculty or School, this partnership ethos is supported via the following structures:

The appointment of Subject and Faculty or School Representatives.

The membership of Student Representatives on the following Faculty or School Committee:

- Student-Staff Forum
- Subject Area Boards of Studies
- Faculty Education Committee

Membership of University Committees and Boards including:

- University Education Committee
- Student Futures Board
- Regulations, Quality and Standards Board
- Portfolio Approval & Enhancement Board

Encouraging student feedback and engagement with key University surveys:

- Module Feedback
- Student Experience Survey
(for non-final-year undergraduates)
- National Student Survey
(for mostly final-year undergraduates)

Student Representation

Student Representatives are there to act as a bridge between students and the University and to represent the Student Voice at all levels in the institution.

Coordinated in partnership between the Students' Union and the University, the student rep system helps you to take active ownership of your learning experience, provide constructive feedback and to make a difference to how your courses and departments are run. There are student representatives in each year of each programme (or set of related programmes) as well as a Faculty/School and Welsh representative for undergraduate students.

Student Representatives will monitor any academic issues raised at key meetings throughout the year, and communicate any actions back to you.

All students should be aware of who their representative is; if you are unaware, check the list at swansea-union.co.uk/voice/eduzone/rep or contact the Student Voice Coordinator. If the position is vacant, you could consider running for the position yourself. Please visit the Students' Union Education Zone for information on how to do this.

Representatives should be available to the students they represent to help with any issues. Student Representatives will gather feedback from you in a number of ways, including meetings, so keep a look out! Any issues which you would like to be addressed can be forwarded to the Representative, who may be able to offer guidance or resolve the problem outside of meetings.

Support for your studies

You should expect to receive appropriate and adequate support from Swansea University throughout your student journey in the following areas:

- Academic Guidance
- Support for Personal Development Planning
- Guidance on finding help with personal issues (which affect your wellbeing, engagement, and progress through University)

Personal Tutoring

All students on taught programmes (undergraduate and postgraduate) are assigned an Personal Tutor, who will assist you as far as possible, and may also be able to direct you to other support services for certain issues. Welsh-speaking students can be allocated to Welsh-speaking Personal Tutors in line with their Welsh Language Student Rights.

Your Personal Tutor will usually be a member of the academic staff of your department. Depending on your module choices, this may mean that your Personal Tutor is not necessarily one of your lecturers. You can find your Personal Tutor on your individual intranet page, under Course Details > Course Contacts.

All Personal Tutors will meet you in the initial weeks on your course, and as a minimum should meet with you at least four times each academic session. The sessions should take the format of a mixture of 1-2-1 and group meetings.

Please read the University's full policy on Personal Tutoring for more information.

Reasonable Adjustments

Universities aim to create an inclusive environment for all students through accessible teaching practices, inclusive assessment methods, assistive technology, and accessible physical spaces. However, students sometimes require additional support to participate fully and equally in their studies. As such, they can expect fair, personalised support designed to remove or reduce barriers to learning by means of Reasonable Adjustments.

Engagement Monitoring

Why is my engagement monitored?

The University is required to monitor your engagement for a number of reasons:

- If you are experiencing any difficulties, these can be identified sooner and the appropriate support offered to help you get through it.
- It has been shown that supporting you to engage with your studies leads to more students completing their course, achieving better results and employment.
- The University has a legal duty to monitor students' engagement and to report to external sponsors e.g. Student Loan Company.

'I am an international student...how does my engagement affect my Student Route visa?'

- The University is legally required to monitor your engagement, in line with UK Visas and Immigration (UKVI) regulations and the rules that underpin immigration into the United Kingdom.
- In the case of unsatisfactory in-person attendance, as determined by the University, a Student Route student will become subject to the escalation process as detailed in the Engagement Monitoring Policy for Taught Students.

Support for your studies

What is a 'scheduled learning session'?

The University's Statement on Engagement says that you are expected to attend all Scheduled Learning Sessions, including, but not limited to:

- Lectures
- Seminars
- Study Groups
- Practicals
- Example Classes
- Tutorials
- Examinations
- Supervisory Meetings
- Industrial Placements
- Field Trips

Make sure you are aware of additional engagement requirements in your Faculty or School and external body requirements such as:

- Professional and regulatory bodies
- Government/funding agencies
- UKVI requirements

There are specific requirements for students undertaking professional programmes and it is essential that you are aware of these requirements. Please refer to your programme handbook for more information.

How is my engagement monitored?

Engagement will primarily be monitored by card swipe data at scheduled face-to-face learning sessions and will be supplemented by data from other University systems such as:

- Activity in Canvas to determine resources viewed
- Access to library e-resources

What if I am unable to engage with my studies?

Let your Faculty or School know!

If you are absent for any period of time, your Faculty/School may ask you to submit a temporary leave from study request including an explanation for your absence. Please contact your Faculty/School for more information.

If your studies will be heavily affected, it is usually advised that you suspend your studies instead.

Support for your studies

Unsatisfactory Engagement

If you do not make your Faculty or School aware when you are not able to engage with your studies, your Faculty or School may become concerned and will contact you in line with the University's escalation process.

"Unsatisfactory engagement" includes, but is not exclusively confined to:

- Repeated or sustained failure to engage with face-to-face or virtual scheduled learning sessions and online learning resources without providing a satisfactory reason and/or
- Failure to attend a scheduled interview with a member of academic/professional service staff, particularly where such an interview is concerned with non-engagement and/or academic progress.

This may result in you being withdrawn from your programme. If this happens you may request a review of this decision.

Please see the Engagement Monitoring Policy for Taught Students for more information.

Learning and Teaching - Programmes of study

Our programmes are designed to embed Swansea University's Graduate Attributes throughout the student journey, ensuring that every graduate develops a broad set of skills, knowledge and behaviours aligned to future careers and global challenges. Through this holistic, embedded approach, our curricula ensure that graduates are not only academically accomplished, but also adaptable, socially responsible and equipped to thrive in a rapidly changing world.

Undergraduate programmes are normally of three years' duration when studied full-time, with extended programmes available where these include a foundation year, industrial placement, or period of study abroad. For specific programme details please refer to your programme Canvas Hub, which will be available to you after enrolment.

Professional Programmes

Some programmes may be approved/accredited by Professional, Statutory and Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs). Such programmes are designed to meet the requirements and standards set by the relevant professional body and may contribute towards eligibility for professional registration and/or provide exemptions from specified elements of professional qualifications. Students on accredited or professionally regulated programmes will be required to comply with additional requirements. These may include:

- Fitness to Practise requirements, which assess a student's suitability for entry to, and continuation in a profession;
- Completion of practice-based learning or placements, which must be undertaken in accordance with programme and PSRB requirements;
- Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) checks, occupational health clearances, or other statutory checks;
- Adherence to professional codes of conduct and standards of behaviour;
- Registration with the relevant professional body where this is a condition of participation in the programme or progression towards professional recognition.

Some professionally regulated programmes may also be subject to specific financial arrangements, including eligibility for bursaries or stipends administered by external bodies (for example, the NHS bursary or government funding schemes). Such funding may be contingent upon compliance with attendance, performance, and professional requirements, including placement completion.

You should refer to programme-specific guidance available on Canvas Hub, which you will be able to access after enrolment.

Collaborative Programmes

Swansea University delivers a number of programmes in partnership with other institutions through collaborative arrangements. These may include programmes delivered wholly or in part by a partner institution, or joint provision where responsibility for delivery and assessment is shared. Students registered on collaborative programmes remain students of Swansea University. However, aspects of programme delivery, support, and assessment may be administered by the partner institution. Students studying on collaborative programmes should refer to the Swansea University Undergraduate Student Academic Handbook; and their partner institution handbook(s) for full details of programme-specific requirements, local arrangements, and support structures.

Your studies

See also Your Programme Explained.

Learning and Teaching - Modules

Your undergraduate course will be made up of a range of modules, all of which have been carefully designed to give you the best quality learning experience possible. Some modules are taught in Welsh or bilingually providing options for Welsh-speaking students to study their subject through the medium of Welsh.

What is a module?

A module will normally include:

- Specific aims
- Specific learning outcomes
- A syllabus
- A reading list
- A teaching and learning pattern

- The methods of assessment

The module code is a unique reference number consisting of:

- 2-4 letters = the department to which the module belongs.
- 2-4 numbers = the first of which indicates the level of study, the latter of which are specific to each module.
- In some cases module code might include a letter M instead of a number.
- Modules taught in Welsh or bilingually will have a 'C' in their code.

Each module has a specific credit weighting and is timetabled for a certain semester based on staff commitments.

Modules can be defined as core, compulsory or optional as follows:

- Core: You are required to take and pass these modules.
- Compulsory: You are required to take these modules, but standard rules apply.
- Optional: You can choose these modules from a range of options provided.

! TOP TIP

Use module codes to file your notes

Module Selection/Study Choices

You will need to select the appropriate number of modules:

- Full-time undergraduate students should select modules amounting to 120 credits in each year of study.
- Part-time undergraduate students should typically select modules amounting to 60 credits in each year of study. There are some exceptions for part-time programmes offered by the Faculty of Medicine, Health and Life Science – please contact the Faculty for specific details.

Access the list of modules via the Module Catalogue. Please note that these are subject to change.

If you want to change your module(s):

- Notify your Faculty or School
- Check a new module is open to you and runs in the same semester
- Change it within the first 2 weeks of a module running for one semester, or within the first 4 weeks of a module running for two semesters.

Your studies

If you want to change to a different course

- Talk to your Personal Tutor
- Contact Hwb for advice about fees, funding and study visa (if applicable).

Please refer to the Transfer of Modules Guidance for more information.

Studying Through Medium of Welsh

Academi Hywel Teifi is here to support you throughout your time at Swansea University. We promote, develop and enrich Welsh-medium education, research and student life across the University.

The opportunities available through Welsh extend far beyond your degree programme. As a student, you can access Welsh-medium academic support, develop your employability skills, submit assessments in Welsh even when modules are taught in English, and apply for scholarships and bursaries available to students studying through the medium of Welsh. You can also take advantage of Welsh language learning opportunities, whether you wish to build on your existing skills or learn the language from scratch, while enjoying a varied programme of social, cultural and networking events.

Swansea University's branch of the Coleg Cymraeg Cenedlaethol, based within Academi Hywel Teifi, also organises a wide range of activities throughout the year, including social events, enrichment opportunities and student forums. These provide valuable opportunities to meet other Welsh-speaking students, build connections, and ensure your voice is heard in shaping both your education and wider student experience. The Branch also offers the Coleg Cymraeg Language Skills Certificate, a recognised qualification that provides evidence of your Welsh language proficiency and your ability to use Welsh professionally in the workplace. Achieving the Certificate can enhance your employability by giving future employers clear evidence of your Welsh-language skills and your confidence in working bilingually, helping you stand out in an increasingly competitive job market.

Whether you are a fluent Welsh speaker, a learner, or somewhere in between, we are here to help you make the most of the language, enrich your university experience and develop skills that will benefit you long after you graduate.

Your studies

Assessment

You should expect to experience a variety of assessment methods across your modules, for example: coursework essays, presentations, projects and examinations, where you will have the opportunity to demonstrate and further develop a range of skills.

Your Faculty or School will provide you with information and support relating to your assessments, including:

- A comprehensive Schedule of Assessment, which details all assessment types, submission dates and dates by which you can expect feedback.
- How to submit your assessment: Electronic: Submitted within each of your respective modules in Canvas, the University learning platform, to either Turnitin or Speedgrader depending on your lecturers' requirements.
- Important advice about referencing and how to avoid being accused of academic misconduct.

Make sure that you understand:

- How each module is assessed.
- How each assessed piece of work contributes to the final module mark.

- What you should do in the case of failing an assessment or module.

Assessment and Reasonable Adjustments

If you require reasonable adjustments with regard to assessment. The responsibility rests with you to inform the Wellbeing and Disability Service. More information relating to reasonable adjustments can be found in the dedicated webpages.

See also Reasonable Adjustment Policy for Learning and Assessment.

Assessment and Artificial Intelligence

Work generated by AI tools and submitted for assessment when not expressly authorised and declared could be investigated for academic misconduct.

Please refer to the University's Academic Misconduct Procedure and Artificial Intelligence Guidance for further information.

Submitting Assessments in Welsh

You have the right to sit written exams, or to submit written work for assessment, in Welsh, whether Welsh or English is the main assessment language of the module in question. If you wish to submit written assignments or an exam in Welsh on a module taught in English, you will need to complete an electronic form.

- Students in the first year of study must complete the form within 4 weeks of the relevant module starting.
- Returning students (Year 2 and above) must notify their Faculty as soon as possible, ideally before the start of the relevant module(s).

Proof Reading

The Proof Reading Policy sets out the University's position on proof reading in relation to coursework, whether this is formally contracted and paid for, or undertaken by a friend, colleague or family member.

Your studies

Wherever possible the University is committed to marking assessments in the language of submission. Where relevant expertise cannot be found, the University may, as a last resort, seek to have the work professionally translated.

The relevant form for this request can be found on Presenting work and being assessed in Welsh webpage.

Please refer to the Guidelines on Assessment in Welsh/Another Language, for more information.

Examinations

The examination period is an extremely important time when you get the opportunity to put your knowledge to the test and gain marks that will go towards your final award.

What is an exam?

Normally any assessment which is formally time constrained and independently invigilated. This can include invigilated examinations which take place in-person and on-campus, online invigilated examinations and "take home"

examinations.

When is the examination period?

For students on September start programmes, examination periods are normally in January and May/June with re-sits and coursework resubmissions in August. Please note that some Faculties, Schools or programmes (for example, those with a non-September start date) will follow different timetables for examinations.

See Examinations for more detail.

On campus/In person examinations

The University has a series of strict rules governing the conduct of examinations, including rules surrounding absence, conduct during an examination, and academic misconduct. These rules are detailed in the Examinations Regulations and Procedures.

As a basic guide, you must ensure that:

- You know the date, time, location and rules surrounding each of your examinations. Examination timetables will be available to you in your University intranet account.

- If there are any problems with your examination timetable, you should contact your Subject Representative, Personal Tutor, or the Examinations Officer.
- If you are unable to attend due to extenuating circumstances you must submit a request for deferral within 5 working days of the examination date.

The University reserves the right to alter the examination timetables at short notice in response to unforeseen events.

During the examination be aware that:

- If you arrive late you will not be given additional time at the end.
- You may be asked to confirm your identity. You must take your Student Card to each examination (or some other form of photographic identification and proof that you are a student, such as a photographic driving license and a letter from the university including your name and student number) and display it clearly when asked.

Your studies

- Mobile phones and other electronic devices are not allowed.
- Permitted aids (pens, pencils, etc.) must be carried in a transparent case.

If you require special provision with regard to assessment. The responsibility rests with you to inform the Student Support Services.

More information relating to special provision can be found in the University's General Regulations.

Feedback on your assessment

You should expect to receive feedback on your assessments that is both constructive and timely. Undergraduate students should normally expect to receive feedback on all assessments and examinations within three weeks during term time.

For full information relating to assessment and feedback of your work, please refer to the University's Undergraduate Assessment Regulations and the University's Assessment, Marking and Feedback Policy.

How is my work marked?

All assessments, whether coursework or examinations, will be marked anonymously, with student numbers used for identification purposes until both marking and moderation are completed. Identity will only be disclosed if you submit a request for Extenuating Circumstances, or to release provisional marks as a means of feedback (please refer to the Assessment, Marking and Feedback Policy). Anonymity is not maintained for final degree classifications.

Moderation

Moderation is the process of assuring that all assessments have been marked fairly and accurately in reference to the marking criteria. This can be done by 'double marking' the work of all or some students to ensure consistency of marking. Please refer to the Assessment, Marking and Feedback Policy for full details.

Release of marks

The University's Assessment, Marking and Feedback Policy will provide you with full details regarding the release and confirmation of your marks.

The full regulations relating to end of level progression and award issues are available in the Undergraduate Assessment Regulations.

How is my degree classified?

The Classification of Honours Degrees regulations show you how your overall classification is worked out.

- The option to share your HEAR with potential employers and/or other institutions at any time, aiding in locating graduate level employment or postgraduate positions after completion of your programme.
- A personality questionnaire helping you identify areas which employers would consider your strengths and weaknesses, also matching the results to potential employers who are best suited to your way of thinking.

Working alongside your Studies

The University recognises that you may need to earn extra money during your studies.

You need to make sure your working commitments do not conflict with your studies, however, you can discuss this with your Personal Tutor.

The University's general guideline is that full-time undergraduate students should spend no more than 15 hours per week undertaking paid-employment during term-time.

If you are a Student Route visa holder and have any questions about work hours, please contact visa.advice@swansea.ac.uk.

Rules for Student Route students

- You are allowed to work up to 15 hours a week if studying degree level or above.
- You are allowed to work up to 10 hours a week if studying on a course below degree level.
- A week is defined as Monday to Sunday.
- Voluntary work (even if it is unpaid) should be included in the limits outlined above.
- If you are allowed to work, you can work full time during holidays. Find out more here: www.swansea.ac.uk/study/semesterandtermdates
- You cannot engage in business related activity or be self employed.
- Check your BRP (visa) for your work status.

Have your studies been affected?

Extenuating Circumstances

The University understands that life can sometimes get in the way of your studies. These challenges are referred to as Extenuating Circumstances, defined as:

“Serious and acute problems or events which are beyond a student’s control or ability to foresee which may have affected a student’s performance and/or may have impeded a student’s ability to attend, complete, or submit an assessment on time.”

If you feel that your studies have been affected by extenuating circumstances, it is important that you:

- Seek advice from your Personal Tutor and/or the Education Journeys Team to explore the options available to you.
- Complete and submit a request via the University e:Vision portal.

Please see the Policy on Extenuating Circumstances for further information.

You may also find the answer you are looking for in the Extenuating Circumstances Knowledge Article.

Late Submission of Coursework

If your request for an extension is not accepted and you submit your work after the deadline, you will receive a penalty.

Check with your Faculty or School what penalty for late submission of assessed work for Undergraduate students applies to you.

Have your studies been affected?

Accuracy of Published Marks

The Accuracy of Published Marks procedure provides you with the opportunity to query with your Faculty or School the accuracy of the marks/grades recorded against your name or the accuracy of the overall module/level average. Please refer to the Accuracy of Published Marks regulations and procedure, for further information.

Academic Appeals

An Academic Appeal is a request for a review of a decision of an Examining Board. This could be related to progression decisions, assessment marks, and final degree classification decisions. Appeals may be submitted if one or more of the following situations apply:

- Candidates who are prevented from continuing with their studies part-way through a level of study or part of a programme. You have failed to qualify for progression into the next stage of the programme.

- Candidates who fail to qualify to proceed to the next stage of their programme at the end of a level, end of a part or end of a year.
- Where the implications of the progression decision taken by the Examination Board may have a significant impact on the student's overall results (e.g. capping of marks).
- Candidates who have completed their programme but who wish to appeal against the result or candidates who are dissatisfied with the award of an exit qualification of the University.

All appeals must be submitted using the 'Appeal Form' to the Academic Appeals Section of Education Services within 1 month of notification of the relevant Examining Board decision. For full information, see the Academic Appeals Procedure, or the Academic Appeals FAQs.

If you are not satisfied with the outcome of your complaint you may submit a Final Review according to the University's Final Review Procedure.

We would also like to remind you that the Students' Union Advice Centre is able to assist you with Academic Appeals and/or offer advice.

To make an appointment to see someone at the Students' Union you can contact the Advice Centre via the new portal for contact for students where you can raise a ticket selecting category - Advice & Support from the drop down menu.

Conduct & Complaints

Expectations and Good Conduct

The University expects you to conduct yourself in a respectful way.

As such:

- If you commit a criminal offence on University property you may face disciplinary action and/or criminal proceedings.
- If you attempt to obstruct teaching, study, research or the administration of the University, obstruct any member of the University in the performance of their duties, you may be subject to disciplinary action.
- You are obliged to inform Education Services immediately of any criminal arrests, charges, cautions, or convictions and of any bail conditions imposed upon you, during your time as a student.

Expected conduct is further outlined in the Student Charter.

Swansea University and the Students' Union are committed to promoting a safe and supportive environment in which to study, and have together created an Alcohol Policy and an Illegal Drugs Policy.

If you feel that you are the victim of harassment and need advice, please refer to the University's guidelines - Dignity at Work and Study \(Combating Harassment\). There are also Harassment Advisors who you can talk to directly.

The University's Disciplinary Procedure set out the actions which will be taken in cases of alleged student misconduct.

Complaints

If you have an issue, you may prefer to try to resolve it by taking the issue to your Student Representative, Personal Tutor, or other member of staff. However, if you feel that you need to make a complaint, please follow the University's Complaints Procedure.

Students should raise any informal or formal complaints as early as possible and within three months of the date of the event(s) giving rise to the complaint. The University will not normally consider any complaints received later than this date.

Final Review

If you are not satisfied with the outcome of your complaint you may submit a Final Review according to the University's Final Review Procedure.

Conduct & Complaints

Fitness to Practise

Faculties or Schools are also responsible for ensuring that you comply with the requirements of the University and any other relevant regulatory and professional bodies. Accordingly, if you are pursuing a programme which leads directly (or partially) to a professional qualification, or the right to practise a particular profession or calling, and your conduct or your personal circumstances renders you unable to continue on a course, or not fit to be admitted to and practise that profession or calling, these regulations will apply.

The following are examples which may lead to a case being brought against a student under the University's Fitness to Practise Regulations:

- Failing to seek the appropriate medical support or engage in the process to manage any health condition/disability that impacts your fitness to practise.
- Repeated failure to rectify behaviour that has been identified to you by the Faculty/School as unacceptable.
- Any conduct or circumstances which may prevent you from being offered a placement or to continue on an existing placement.

- A conviction relevant to the programme of study or profession undertaken as part of the programme of study.
- Falsification of records and/or signatures of professional personnel.
- Gross dishonesty, for example, unfair examination or assessment practices or falsification of records.
- Any other circumstance which may call into question your suitability to be admitted to, and to practise, your profession or calling e.g. failure to respect confidentiality, any conduct contrary to an existing code of practice, code of conduct or code of ethics governing the profession to which you aspire.

For more information, please view the University's Fitness to Practise Regulations.

Academic Integrity & Academic Misconduct

What is Academic Integrity?

Academic integrity is based on the ethos that how you learn is as important as what you learn, and is based on a number of core principles:

- Taking responsibility for your studies. Respecting others' opinions, even if you do not agree with them.
- Respecting the rights of others to study. Acknowledging the work of others which has contributed to your own studies, research, or publications
- Honestly representing contributions to group work.
- Following professional standards and ethical requirements related to your programme.
- Avoiding actions which give you an unfair advantage.
- Complying with assessment requirements.
- Honestly representing results from research or experimental data.

What is Academic Misconduct?

Academic Misconduct occurs when the principles and values of Academic Integrity are not adhered to, usually when a student attempts to gain an unfair advantage. Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to):

- Bringing any unauthorised material into an examination venue.
- Copying from or communicating with others during examinations.
- Possessing electronic devices during examinations.
- Impersonating another student or having someone impersonate you for any examination or piece of assessed work.
- Falsifying the results of data collection and/or analysis.
- Plagiarising another person's work by submitting it for assessment without referencing the original author. Talk to your Faculty or School if you need help with referencing your work correctly.

- Using material generated by artificial intelligence (AI) without due acknowledgement, and submitting it for assessment as though it were your own. The use of AI is not explicitly banned in the production of original work, but any such use must be within the guidance given for each assignment and be clearly acknowledged and referenced. Talk to your Faculty or School if you need more guidance on this.
- Commissioning of work, which is the act of paying for, or arranging for another (person or system including AI tools when not expressly authorised and declared) to produce a piece of work whether or not this is then submitted for assessment as though it were the student's own work.
- Submitting work generated by working with another student(s) on a piece of assessment without prior authorisation, ultimately producing the same or a similar piece of work which all students involved then submit for assessment (this is called 'collusion').

Academic Integrity & Academic Misconduct

What happens if I am accused of Academic Misconduct?

The risks associated with academic misconduct are significant. If an allegation of academic misconduct is upheld, your mark(s) for the assignment, module or even your level of study may be cancelled and this may affect your overall degree result or ability to progress to the next level of study. You may also be withdrawn from the University.

You should recognise that the penalties incurred when an allegation of academic misconduct is upheld can be enough to close off a career pathway.

For example, a Law student could find that, if found guilty of engaging in academic misconduct, they will not be accepted as a member of the Law Society. Likewise a student aspiring to become a teacher, doctor or nurse might find themselves subject to Fitness to Practise Procedure.

How can I avoid Academic Misconduct?

The University is committed to providing support and guidance to students on study skills and to reduce cases of accidental plagiarism. You are advised to seek further advice from your Personal Tutor if you are in any doubt as to what is required. Support and guidance on academic writing and referencing are also available from your Subject Librarian and the Centre for Academic Success.

The University also offers a suite of on-line courses which aim to support students with their studies. One of these courses focuses on academic integrity and is available via your Canvas account.

Detailed support and examples of referencing and citation styles are available in your Library Support section in (Canvas).

Please refer to the University's Academic Misconduct Procedure for full details and possible penalties. If you are suspected of Academic Misconduct, you will have an opportunity to respond to the allegations, and support and advice will be available from the Students' Union Advice and Support Centre \(ASC\).
